PRINCE CAROL IS AWAITING CALL TO SEIZE GOVERNMENT

Rumanian Peasants in Demand That Prime Minister Leave

BULLETIN

Bucharest, May 7.—(AP)—The regency today refused the demand voiced by 200,000 peasants meeting at Alba Julia yesterday that the government of Vintila Bratianu resign.

Julio Maniu, leader of the peasants who brought the demand to Bucharest, was informed that the regency said no occasion for demanding the resignation.

In the fact of a negative reply the peasants' party may now adopt passive resistance towards the present government including the non-payment of taxes in order to embarrass it.

Alba Julia, Rumania, May 7.—(AP)—Peasants were marching on Bucharest today to demand a change of government. After a Sunday meeting of 200,000 peasants and laborers had sworn to do everything possible to remove the present government and had broken up in confusion the crowd lingered for two hours while several leaders made fiery speeches. The two long columns started a five day hike for Bucharest.

Ten fighting planes flew over Alba Julia surveying the ranks of the peasants as they trudged toward the capital.

Marchers Unarmed

It was stated that each peasant was participating in the march on his own initiative and without the authorization of Julio Maniu, leader of the national peasant party. The march on Bucharest was regarded as a popular manifestation and since the marchers are unarmed no bloodshed was expected.

Maiu and I. Michalak, another leader, intended to reach the capital ahead of the peasants by traveling by railroad. They carried the demand of the peasants that the government headed by Vintila Bratianu resign and intended to present it to the regency.

The Associated Press correspondent who drove from Klausenburg (Cluj) toward Bucharest met many peasants moving toward the capital with banners which were unfurled. Others were sitting around camp fires by the road side.

BRITAIN BLOCKS PILOT

London, May 7.—(AP)—The Daily Express today said the British government had prevented the carrying out of a plot of which former Crown Prince Carol of Rumania was the central figure, to seize the Rumanian throne from Carol's six year old son, King Michael. Despite the temporary check the plans have not been abandoned, the paper asserted.

There were reports that at the estate of M. Jonsescu, a Rumanian living in Godstone, Surrey, where Carol is visiting, a fast automobile waited to speed him to Croydon from which point he could fly to Paris.

The newspaper said British airplanes had been chartered to carry manifestos and scatter them over Rumania. These manifestos were said to quote Carol as asserting:

CHAS. HARDY TRIED TO END LIFE SATURDAY

Cut Throat While in Frenzy Following Family Quarrel

Charles F. Hardy, 52-year-old farmer, residing at Lee in the east end of the county, slashed his throat with a razor at his home Saturday evening while in a fit of frenzy, but at noon today was reported to have spent a restful night at the Waterman hospital, where he was taken, and the attending physicians entertain hopes for his complete recovery. The attempt upon his life took place Saturday evening at the Hardy home, which is located at the edge of the village of Lee, and during a family quarrel, according to the story told to Sheriff Ward Miller, when he was summoned Sunday afternoon to conduct an investigation.

Harry Hardy, aged 17, a step son, who had been working at home, claimed to have been ill treated many times by his step father and determined to leave home and secure work on a farm near DeKalb. Friday evening, the two exchanged words when Hardy learned that Harry planned to leave home. Saturday evening the young man came home with a friend in an automobile and entered the house to get his clothes.

Barricaded in Room.

He told his mother of his plan and Hardy appeared on the scene and demanded to know the reason for the presence of the car in the yard. When he learned that Harry was gathering his belongings together for the purpose of leaving home, he flew into a rage and is said to have made a rush at the boy. Harry struck his step-father in the face and then dashed into another room, slamming the door behind him, and barricading himself within the room, by placing chairs against the door, it is alleged.

Hardy, in a fit of anger, ran to the kitchen and secured a heavy stove poker, with which he attempted to crash down the door. Mrs. Hardy grappled with him in an effort to secure possession of the poker. Her husband, suddenly released his hold on the weapon and running back into the kitchen, took his razor from a shelf, opened the blade and slashing his throat, first on one side and then on the other. He fell to the floor, blood streaming from the deep gashes. Neighbors rushed to the Hardy home, a physician was summoned and the man was hurried to the hospital at Waterman.

The wind pipe was partially severed, it was discovered when physicians arrived to render first aid. Hardy, however, had not cut the jugular vein and while he bled profusely, his recovery is looked forward to.

ANTI-JAPANESE FEELING GROWS IN CHINA TODAY

'Humiliation Day' Anniversary Brings New Threats

Peking, May 7.—(AP)—Japanese warships were distributed throughout Chinese waters and additional troops were on their way to reinforce embattled comrades in Tsinan today as the Chinese observed "Humiliation Day."

The thirteenth anniversary of Japan's ultimatum of 21 demands took on a more somber and threatening aspect than ever before. Annually the day has been the occasion of anti-Japanese demonstrations. Massacres and fighting in Tsinan today had brought about what was considered the gravest Sino-Japanese crisis since the 1915 demands.

Shanghai advisers told of arrangements for an extensive boycott of Japanese goods and resignation of Chinese employed by Japanese.

All Japanese women were taken on board ships at Ichang, on the Yangtze river in the province of Hupien. At Nanking the women were concentrated at the waterfront in readiness for embarkation if this was thought advisable. Similar preparations were made in many other cities.

To reinforce the Yangtze river patrol an additional destroyer division was ordered to Shanghai. While the Japanese garrison at Tsinan has been reinforced to a total of more than 4000 men, an additional 2,700 troops were steaming from Manchuria to Tsingtao where they will land with Tsinan as their destination.

Assurances of the safety of American, British and German communities at Tsinan limited the issue to Japan and Nationalist China. The rifles at Tsinan have been silent since Friday and General Chiang Kai-Shek, Nationalist commander-in-chief, is discredited and the unity of his command broken.

Lindbergh Still Greatest of Air Heroes in New York

Curtiss Field, N. Y., May 7.—(AP)—America has had many heroes since Col. Charles A. Lindbergh came back from his epic flight to Paris last summer but the sight of his silver-winged plane is still enough of a magnet to send 2,000 people stampeding to surround it.

Landing on the field here last night after a hop over to Mitchell Field, he narrowly averted a tragedy as 2,000 people swarmed out onto the field, in imminent danger from the whirling blades of his plane's propeller.

Motorcycle police charged the crowd with screaming sirens and special guards attempted to ring off a clear space for him to land but their efforts were not enough to stop the rush. Two women were knocked down, receiving cuts and bruises which required medical attention.

Lindbergh saw the human avalanche coming toward him and swerved his ship after a run of only a few feet, almost causing it to tip over. Using his wheel brakes as much as he dared he turned his plane completely around and shut off the motor without the customary idling while it cooled off.

He and his passengers were imprisoned in the plane's cabin as the mob was forced through and ducking the hands of those who sought to touch him he jumped into the car. Police men stood on the running board pushing away persons who sought to climb on, as motorcycle police cleared a lane to the road to New York.

BITTER PRIMARY IN INDIANA WILL CLOSE TOMORROW

Managers of Hoover and Watson Both Claim Victory

Indianapolis, Ind., May 7.—(AP)—A bitter primary campaign approached the end today. Indiana voters will vote tomorrow for Republican and Democratic candidates for President, United States Senate, Congress, Governor, State Legislature and county officers. Precinct committeemen and delegates to the state convention also will be selected.

Principal interest centers in the fight between Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, and Senator James E. Watson for the preferential vote of the state for the republican nomination for president. Control of the 33 delegates to the Kansas city convention is in question.

Evans Woolen, Indianapolis banker is unopposed for the Democratic preferential vote for nomination for president. He will control 30 delegates to the Houston convention.

Watson's Claims. M. Burt Thurman, national campaign manager for Watson, in a final statement said that Watson will carry every district in Indiana and have the support of four-fifths of the delegates to the state convention.

Oscar Poellinger of Fort Wayne, state campaign manager for the Hoover forces, predicted Hoover would carry nine districts.

As to the state contests, two years of investigation of alleged political corruption, the expose of the Ku Klux Klan control of politics as brought out in the trial of John L. DuVal, resigned mayor of Indianapolis, along with the alleged heavy influence the Indiana Anti-Saloon League has wielded in past primaries, evidently have failed to arouse the ordinary voter.

Drew Small Crowds.

Except in a few instances small crowds have greeted the candidates as they hurled their cries for "a new deal," attacked the Klan and the present Republican administration and hurled the "lie" at each other. One explanation was that probably the voters had been already made up their minds.

Senator Arthur R. Robinson is contesting the renomination and reelection with two worthy opponents. They are Arthur L. Gilliom, Attorney General and Solo J. Carter, Indianapolis Attorney. Gilliom and Carter charge Robinson is backed by the Klan.

The Democratic candidates for nomination as Senator are Walter Myers of Indianapolis and Albert Stump, both Indianapolis attorneys, and W. L. Curry, Indianapolis. The latter was campaigned as a "wet."

There are seven candidates seeking nomination as Democratic candidate for governor.

Dixon Evening Telegraph's free cooking school starts tomorrow afternoon at Downing Hall. Doors open at 1 p. m. Attend each day, including Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Craney of Kenosha, Wis., spent the week-end with their brother and sister, Thomas and Myra Young.

LINER SINKS GOVT. DREDGE FOUR MISSING

47 Thrown in Water at Entrance of New York Harbor

New York, May 7.—(AP)—The 2,000-ton government dredge Navesink, with a crew of forty-seven men, was rammed and sunk 600 yards off Clinton, Staten Island, about 4 o'clock this morning by the inbound Cunard liner Caronia. Four men were reported missing.

Twenty-five were taken to the Marine hospital on Staten Island where all but two remained for treatment. Eighteen others swam ashore, it was reported, including Chief Engineer Cluett, in charge of the dredging operation.

In 45 Feet of Water.

The dredge, in command of Capt. Anderson, was working in the double channel directly in the ocean steamship lane. She foundered in 45 feet of water.

First news of the accident was received in a radio message from the Caronia, as follows:

"U. S. government dredge sinking at Pier 17, middle of channel. Loaded with men. Dredge settling and men swimming around. Advice of White Star line and Standard Oil Tanker Standard Arrow nearby. All lowered lifeboats."

This message was relayed to police headquarters, which dispatched four police launches to the scene. Five coast guard cutters also sent out.

The Navesink was 290 feet long. She was built in 1908 at Sparrows Point, Md., and was valued at $200,000.

Federal and State Engineers at Table Rock, S. C., Today

Table Rock, S. C., May 7.—(AP)—Federal, state and county officials united their efforts today to save Table Rock dam, 31 miles from Greenville, which developed a leak Friday, threatening the Saluda river valley should the 5,000,000 gallons of water impounded behind the dyke be loosed.

Major Frank Green, Red Cross representative from Fort Benning, Ga., joined the conference. Lieutenant K. F. Hertford, regular Army instructor with the South Carolina National Guard Engineer Corps at Spartanburg, proffered the aid of the National Guard engineering unit. Major N. Y. Duhamel and J. A. TWO AUTOS ON FIRE

The fire department responded to two alarms Saturday night, in both of which automobiles were damaged. Crossed wiring started a fire in a Chevrolet coupe which was parked in front of the United cigar store at 8 o'clock, the department extinguishing the flames with slight damage to the machine. About 9 o'clock, a Ford coupe parked on Second street caught fire when the driver lighted a match to inspect the carburetor, which he found leaking. Neither of the cars was badly damaged.

TRAIN STRUCK AUTO

A Ford coupe owned and driven by Ralph M. Ruppert who conducts a lunch stand west of Dixon on the Lincoln Highway, was considerably damaged this morning at 10 o'clock on River street. Mr. Ruppert had parked his car in the parking space on the river bank when the brakes released and it backed into an Illinois Central switch engine which was passing with a string of cars. The train was brought to a stop within a short distance, but the rear of the coupe was considerably crushed.

Dixon Man is Held for Theft of Auto

Dale "Buck" Lambert was arrested in Peru Sunday afternoon driving a new Ford tudor sedan, the property of Simeon Eastman of this city. This morning Eastman swore out a warrant before Justice Martin J. Gannon, charging Lambert with the theft of the car and Chief J. D. Van Bibber left at once to bring the prisoner back to Dixon.

Lambert is said to have been riding with Eastman Saturday night in the new car. The machine was parked in front of the Eastman residence on West First street, where it was taken Sunday morning. Eastman reported the theft to the police and late yesterday afternoon, Chief Van Bibber was called by the Peru police who informed him that Lambert was being held at that place for being intoxicated and in this manner the car was located.

Case Team Beaten

The Walton baseball team, with Beeny on the mound, defeated the J. I. Case Company team of Dixon on the former's diamond Sunday afternoon by a score of 4 to 2. "Smookey" Joe Miller twirled for the pious makers, but his support was ragged and it was the first game for the Dixon team, which accounted for their defeat.

RAY DAWSON, STERLING, IS NEAR DEATH

Paroled Murderer is Held After Cutting Affray Last Eve

Ray Dawson, brother of Harry Dawson of this city, is in the Sterling public hospital hovering between life and death, and Raddian Yaccak, aged 32, a paroled murderer, is in the Whiteside county jail at Morrison under bonds of $30,000, on a charge of assault with intent to commit murder, as a result of a cutting affray at the home of the former in the west part of Sterling Sunday night about 11 o'clock.

Yaccak was arrested in his room at the Sterling Inn last night by the police, where he had hurried after probably fatally slashing Dawson, and when the officers entered the room, a friend of Yaccak's was dressing injuries in the back of the latter's hands.

Ordered from House

Yaccak, according to the investigation conducted by the police, spent last evening at the Dawson home, where he was a guest at supper. After the meal he offered to pay Mrs. Dawson one dollar for the supper but she refused. Later in the evening, about 11 o'clock according to reports, Yaccak accused Dawson of having taken a $20 bill from his clothing. Dawson denied this and an argument arose, which became quite heated and Dawson ordered his guest from the premises. Yaccak is said to have left the house, but to have returned in a short time and, meeting Dawson in the doorway, to have slashed him with a knife, the weapon laying open a deep wound across the abdomen.

Mrs. Dawson, who had retired, was aroused by her husband, who called to her stating that he had been cut. When she reached the scene, Yaccak had departed and her husband was lying on the ground about 100 feet from the house in a pool of blood. Officers were summoned and Dawson was rushed to the hospital where he was placed in the operating room. The knife wound, which extended across the abdomen, was of such depth that his intestines protruded when the clothing was removed.

Bill Found on Floor

Mrs. Dawson denied that a drinking party had been in progress during the afternoon and evening, when questioned, it was said, a $20 bill believed to have been the cause for the opening of the argument was found lying on the floor beneath the dining table when police were making an investigation. Yaccak is believed to have pulled it from his pocket when he offered to pay Mrs. Dawson for his supper.

It was believed that Dawson followed his assailant after being slashed and grappled with him for possession of the knife, as Yaccak's hands were bruised and Dawson was found about 100 feet distant from the house. At noon today the police had not been able to find the knife which was used in the cutting affray.

Agreement Likely on Flood Control

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—After a conference of more than an hour with President Coolidge today, senate and house conferees on the Mississippi river flood control bill said substantial progress toward an agreement had been made. "There will have to be another meeting of the conferees," said Senator Jones, republican, Washington, author of the measure. This means that the conference report, heretofore submitted to the House and Senate, probably will be withdrawn so that the conferees can work out a bill which will meet suggestions made by the President. After the Conferees had left the White House, it was said there that Mr. Coolidge felt that an agreement would be reached.

Dixonites Observe National Music Week

The city of Dixon is one of two thousand cities that will observe National Music Week this year. Last year 1636 cities took part and this will be exceeded by four to five hundred this year. Other states that have recognized this important movement are Arkansas, Arizona, Kentucky, South Carolina, Texas and Wyoming. Public statements to the press have been released by the governors of these and other states.

The various clubs of the city will take part in this movement, as well as the churches and the grade and high schools. In addition to this, special music is being broadcast every evening and there will be an effective radio closing of music week with half hour's home sing on Saturday at 8:30. The invisible singers in the home will be led by the National Broadcasting Company Chorus from stations WEAF, WEEL, WGY, WWJ and KSD.

Great masses of yellow blooms upon the pale verde.
Scarlet coccinella bursting as with flame, lilac-tinted blossoms on the iron-woods.
Thistle waves in white—the wild bees frame
Sweet harvest as they gather and reclaim;

Cacti in many hues and shades of beauty.
Yellow prickly pears, trail of red.
The stately sahuaro's waxen-white corolla,
The greasewood's deep green foliage, and the spread

That things might grow again—the prayer for rain.
That came and made this beauty everywhere!

SHED MAKE WOMEN MEN'S EQUAL BEFORE INTERNATIONAL LAW—By NEA Service

"International feminism in this hemisphere was born at Havana this spring," says Miss Doris Stevens, chairman of the Commission on Equal Rights at the Pan-American conference. "Women decided that if men could act internationally, women could too."
"They decided more than that. Since men were writing international codes affecting the status of women, it was imperative that before any more were written woman's voice should be heard authoritatively in their councils."

"All over the world, codes, treaties and conventions still are springing up that make men and women unequal before permanent international law."
"For example the international labor office of the League of Nations is about to propose a convention establishing minimum wage laws throughout the world. Women must see to it that any minimum wage is written for persons, not one standard for man's work and a lower standard for woman's work."
"Feminists are in the international field to stay. Vigilance is imperative. We want no more laws written internationally making men and women unequal, as was done by all nations at their founding."

MENU for the FAMILY

BY SISTER MARY

BREAKFAST—Sliced bananas with strawberries, cereal, cream, creamed chipped beef on toast, whole wheat toast, milk coffee.
LUNCHEON—Chicken omelet, lettuce sandwiches, waffles with fresh maple syrup, milk, tea.
DINNER—Baked calf's liver, cabbage and orange salad, jelly roll, milk, coffee.

The omelet suggested in the luncheon menu makes use of any bits of chicken left from the loaf planned for the immediately preceding dinner. Any regulation omelet rule is used and when the mixture is cooked two cups of creamed chicken are spread over the top before folding.

Baked Calf's Liver
One and one-half pounds calf's liver, 4 slices Bermuda onion, thin slices fat salt pork, 2 tablespoons flour 1-4 teaspoon pepper.
Put liver which is not sliced into a deep bowl. Pour over boiling water to more than cover and let stand five minutes. Drain and wipe carefully. Place on rack in roaster. Cut fat salt pork in pieces about the size of a little larger than onion slices making eight pieces of pork. Use four wooden toothpicks or small skewers and on each put a piece of pork then onion and then pork. Stick into liver over top. Sprinkle with pepper and flour and bake one hour in a moderately hot oven. Serve on a bed of hot rice potatoes, seasoned with salt, pepper and butter and garnish with strips of crisp broiled bacon and spoonfuls of hot well seasoned spinach.

Freeport Children Won Piano Contest Held Here Sunday

Sunday afternoon an enjoyable piano contest was held in the assembly room at St. Mary's Parochial School in Dixon, between the pupils of St. Mary's school of Dixon and St. Mary's school of Freeport. Twelve automobile loads came from Freeport to take part in the friendly contest, the Freeport students being taught by the St. Francis Sisters and the Dixon students by the Dominican Sisters of the respective schools. The judges were from Dixon, Sublette and Freeport and they decided in favor of the Freeport players. The contest was very close and the children of both classes reflected much credit on their teachers, their schools and themselves, for their technique was very good and their poise and manner excellent. The mothers of those taking part attended and all have just cause to be proud of their children. Afterward the mothers of the Dixon children served a very tempting luncheon to all taking part, the room being prettily decorated in the colors of the schools, orange and blue, and with lovely spring flowers. It proved a delightful occasion to all and cemented closer the tie of friendship of the schools.

Asso. Contribute to Better Conditions

Carthage, Ill., May 7.—(AP)—Parent-teacher associations in Hancock county have been largely responsible for an amazing improvement in general school conditions throughout the county. Arthur E. Dicker of Carthage, county superintendent of schools, wrote in a letter of commendation to the state association.
"The Hancock county associations," he wrote, "have been of much help in securing cleaner and more sanitary school houses and grounds, they have established a closer contact between teacher and parents, and they have done a large amount of constructive work in building up school districts."
"I am very happy to state that in districts where such associations are operating, they are contributing valuable assistance toward better school conditions. Of complaints that come to my office from time to time, none of them has come from districts where a live parent-teacher association is maintained."

Birthday Dinner Enjoyable Event

Mr. and Mrs. Clark Rickard most enjoyably entertained at a birthday dinner Sunday at their home honoring the natal day of Mrs. E. H. Rickard, whose birthday occurs today. Beautiful table decorations in pink, green and white were employed. The tempting birthday cake was in white with green candles. Snap dragons were the flowers. A delicious dinner was served. The guests entertained were Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Rickard, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Keyes, Mrs. Stewart Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Reuben Yoder of Dixon; and Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Williams and two children of Penrose. Mrs. Rickard received a number of nice gifts and best wishes for many happy returns of the day.

FREE COOKING SCHOOL STARTS TUESDAY AFTERNOON
The Dixon Telegraph Cooking School will start tomorrow afternoon in Downing hall Miss Edna Ferguson, the lecturer. Arrange your social calendar so you may attend each day until Saturday.

The WOMAN'S DAY ALLIANCE

The Ladies' Aid Society of a certain church recently got considerable fame for itself by giving a 50-cent church supper which consisted of fried chicken, warm biscuits and gravy, mashed potatoes, green peas and fresh asparagus, vegetable salad with Roquefort cheese dressing, parkerhouse rolls and butter, fruit salad, ice cream, two kinds of cake, coffee, and mints. And if that wasn't all, it certainly ought to have been.

The historic "shot" fired heard 'round the world' had no more reverberations than this church supper menu for 50 cents.

The cry of the consumer is, "If church women can serve a meal like this and make money, why can't we get better food in our restaurants?" The cry of many a stingy husband as she shows this item in the evening paper to his good wife is:

"There, I told you that you had all the money for groceries you needed and just don't know how to manage your money! If women can make a spread like that for 50 cents, what I ought to be eating?"

And the cry of many a restaurant keeper who sees this menu just about the time he's wondering how in the world he can possibly serve pigs' knuckles and sauerkraut for any less than 40 cents is:

"Wish I had some of those dames working for me!"

HERE'S THE ANSWER

Now any and all of us who have had any contact with church supper whatsoever knows the answer. We know that most of the food was donated and we know that the donations came easily because it was one form of charity for which the good women never had to ask their husbands. It merely meant stepping to the phone and ordering the chicken or the cake or pie or cookie ingredients, all to go down on the household bills, and papa to be none the wiser.

And we all know, too, that of all extravagant, unbusinesslike, silly ventures, the church supper of the kind that gives a $2 meal for 50 cents, is the last word.

When I was a kid "our bunch" got our church supper free by waiting on table. But when one considers that the paying eaters got cold meat and potato salad and hot buttered rolls and pickles and olives and two kinds of cake and coffee for a dime, we certainly earned our keep. But it was lots of fun—congregating in the kitchen, a giggle at the older women who were straightening up and anxiously looking at our industrious feeding for fear nothing would be left for the cooks.

POOR PAPA PAYS

Church suppers of the old-fashioned sort—far be it from me to insist that they are not on a paying basis today—even though the news item of fried chicken supper might indicate that they haven't changed much—were a perfect symbol of the olden state of women.

Women kept house and men paid the bills; women took "good providing" so far granted that it never occurred to them that paying the grocery and meat bill amounted to very much. The only things that they regarded as extravagances were things for which cash had to be paid. Husbands were exploited by church suppers and box socials and this and that which took food and much of it, and which women provided in luxurious abundance because it came easily.

Women would work like horses in poorly equipped, roasting hot, too small church kitchens, and become irritable ailing wives and mothers in their own homes for days after. Today's modern woman gives her benevolences in cash and considers it a far better bargain.

Cinderella Ballet On Both Evenings

The Cinderella Ballet presented at the Dixon theater on Friday and Saturday evenings, between the first and second shows by Miss Campbell and her pupils, proved a huge success. Once again the most popular fairy story of them all was renewed in the minds of all in the audience by the pretty fantasy enacted on the stage by Miss Campbell, instructor of the dance, and her Dixon pupils, who everyone performed her part so well, that one wondered if Mr. Rorer had engaged a special act from the city. The stage had special lighting effects, and beautiful Chinese and Japanese lanterns shedding colored lights assisted in the pleasing result attained. A lovely little throne, built for Cinderella after her transformation, was another pleasing feature, and grouped about the throne were huge and artistic baskets of flowers sent by friends in congratulation. In so large a class space forbids individual mention, but each child or miss of more mature years deserves special notice, their parts being so well taken, and their dances were cleverly executed, showing close attention on the part of Miss Campbell to individual needs and talents. The outstanding feature of the fascinating dance program was the entire versatility and originality. There was lacking the sameness which sometimes creeps into a program made up entirely of dances and tableaux. The entire performance including the delightful number by Miss Campbell and Miss Scott just before the curtain dropped, was a genuine pleasure and merited success. Worthy of note also was the poise and assurance of the young people taking part, their graceful entrances and exits being very pleasing.

The program was as follows:

Recital Saturday Enjoyable Occasion

Most delightful was the recital given Saturday afternoon in the parlors at the St. Paul's Lutheran church, spring flowers and ferns adding their beauty to the rooms. The recital was given under the supervision of Mrs. F. M. Goodsell, by two of her pupils, and she was the accompanist. Mrs. LeRoy Long, formerly Miss Lola Fischer, gave a repertoire of songs and Miss Edith Slothower gave a piano recital, both artists delighting their audience, and exhibiting much excellent technique and instruction, and reflecting credit on their teacher. Mrs. Long's voice is pure and true and she sings with beautiful expression. Miss Slothower is a pianist of rare ability and musicianship, and she plays with true interpretation of the composer's mood and her technique is fine. The program which was given follows:

Dixon White Shrine; Supreme Shrine Session

The Dixon White Shrine Patrol team motored to Milwaukee Wednesday to attend the Supreme White Shrine Session, and arrived there in time for their rehearsal at noon.
At 7 o'clock the drills were started. Thirteen teams from different states took part. Numbers were drawn and the Dixon team was the twelfth on the floor. A New York team was the first and was very fine. There were three teams present from Illinois, representing Danville, Rock Island and Dixon. Many beautiful formations were exhibited, and the teams made a wonderful showing in their uniforms, each appearing in a costume of their own design. During the drills it was impossible to keep from applauding (it had been announced there would be no clapping while teams were on the floor) the splendid work of the various teams.

The grand formation of all the teams as they circled the immense auditorium with banners and flags flying, was an inspiring sight.

The Dixon team was presented with a basket of beautiful roses from Mr. and Mrs. Howard, Worthy High Priestess and Worthy Treasurer who were present attending the Supreme Shrine. The Dixon Patrol attended a luncheon party Thursday at noon given in their honor. Sight seeing was enjoyed, also a theater party. All voted to attend the next Supreme White Shrine meeting at Kansas City, Kans., which will be held next May. About thirty members formed the Dixon party in attendance at Milwaukee, twenty members in the drill, including Captain Lloyd Lewis, drill master; Mrs. Louis Franks, manager; and Mrs. O. L. Gearhart, Captain. The personnel of the team follows—Mrs. Glenn Coc, Miss Marcella Bremer, Miss Dorothy Dodd, Miss Lucille Trautman, Mrs. Harry Stephen, Mrs. Will Ware, Miss Bernice Wilhelm, Mrs. Charles Bush, Mrs. Clark Rickard, Mrs. Lloyd Lewis, Mrs. M. A. Murphy, Mrs. K. B. Segner, Mrs. Sterling Schock, Mrs. Katherine Balbo, Miss Esther Young, Miss Mary Bollman, Mrs. Lee Read, pianist. Mr. Reed also attended the session.

Dinners, Showers and Weddings in Rochelle

Rochelle—A very unique and cleverly planned dinner and shower was given at the home of Miss Fannie Louis Pierce, Saturday evening, honoring Miss Stasia Nugent, who is soon to wed Floyd Blenfang, secretary of the Mid-West Canneries. Assisting Miss Pierce as hostesses were Miss Esther M. Rydell and Miss Ragna Ingvaldsen of Chicago.

Miss Nugent was requested to leave a package at the home of Miss Pierce and on arriving found herself in a company of nearly three dozen friends. Dinner was served at 6:30. The table decorations were in pink and green in keeping with the color scheme carried out in the decorations in the home. Snap dragons in green vases with pink candles were used in the table decorations. The guests' place cards were fastened in favors of ping paper flowers.

The bride's table bore an unusual decoration representing a sprinkling receptacle with glistening threads falling from the beautiful decorated vessel in such a way as to give the observer the impression of falling water. The bride-to-be was the recipient of a large paper rose after the dinner was served with Mrs. Frank Thorp as cateress. The rose contained small hearts which contained verses directing the bride-to-be to the place where the gifts were hidden. There were beautiful gifts of linen, crystal, silver and a beautiful waffle set. The hostesses presented Miss Nugent with a memory book and the guests were invited to write their sentiments in it.

Mrs. Thorp was assisted in serving by four high school girls, Josephine Southworth, Helen Hamaker, Louise Haselton and Doris Ogle, who wore aprons of pink and green.

Miss Nugent is a graduate of the Rochelle high school, a musician of unusual ability and is the secretary of the Illinois Yarn Co.

The out-of-town guests included—Miss Sophia Peterson, Miss Hazel Foss, Elsie Goumond and Miss Mildred Nugent of Chicago, and Frances Larson of Aurora.

Miss Blanche Squire gave an announcement party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank King Wednesday evening for Miss Mildred Paddock, the fifth grade teacher in the Central School here and Miss Ruth Ringdahl, the community nurse.

Announcement was made early in the evening of the wedding dates of the two guests of honor. Pink rosebuds to which were attached two pink hearts, formed the tally cards for brides. On the inside of one of the hearts was the following: Miss Mildred Paddock and Alby Krug, April 28th, and inside the other heart, "Miss Ruth Ringdahl and W. A. Ostrom, June 21st." Prizes were given winners of high and low scores at bridge. The guests of honor received corsage bouquets of roses and valley lilies. The color scheme carried out in the decorations was pink and white with pink roses forming the centerpiece of the table.

Miss Ringdahl has been connected with the schools of this city as nurse nearly two years. Miss Paddock has been teaching in the schools of the city for several years. Her home as well as that of her husband to whom she was wedded last Saturday, is at Ashton. Mr. and Mrs. Krug are now on a honeymoon trip to Niagara Falls, N. Y.

The annual May Breakfast of the Rochelle Woman's club will be held in the parlors of the Methodist church, Saturday. The principal speaker will be Mrs. John S. Mauer, of Chicago, who will give her lecture, "The Killarian of America," accompanied by stereopticon slides. Another feature will be a musical program. The Ladies Aid Society of the church will serve.

There will be a meeting of the Alumni Association of the high school held in the town hall, Thursday evening, May 10, at 7:30 p. m. A full attendance is desired as plans for the annual reunion will be considered.

- Build a Street-wide Bridge over Rock River.

SPREAD OF SURFACED HIGHWAYS.
Statistics assembled by the bureau of public roads in the department of agriculture of the United States show that more than 20,000 miles of surfaced roads will be constructed this year and 8000 miles will be graded and drained.
Work is going forward in the states that have led the procession and backward commonwealths are coming into line from year to year. Nearly all states have been doing a little building of hard roads, but many have been limited to local projects instead of adopting state-wide plans.
It is estimated that state highway departments will have at their disposal 25 percent more for construction this year than they had last season. The figure now is placed at $750,000,000. Whether or not that holds up or goes higher depends upon collections of gasoline taxes and motor license fees, statistics of which are not in hand in an exact form.
Funds available for expenditure by county and lesser divisions will swell the total to $1,300,000,000 in the estimate of the United States bureau.
Of the 20,000 miles of surfacing that will be constructed, it is predicted that 9000 will be of hard surfacing and 11,000 will be of cheaper construction.

THE PEOPLE WHO VOTE.
A reader of the Dayton (O.) Daily News writes to that paper a letter maintaining that a far higher percentage of qualified voters go to the polls in America than is commonly supposed.
He points out that whereas 57,000,000 citizens are theoretically entitled to vote in national elections, many of these are, for all practical purposes, disfranchised. He says there are nearly 12,000,000 negroes who do not have the vote; estimates that 8,000,000 other citizens lose their votes because they are "floaters" or transients and accordingly do not have settled residences; and holds that probably 10 percent of the 57,000,000 are kept away from the polls on election day by illness, accidents or sudden contingencies they cannot control.
Looked at in this light, our national election figures are more encouraging. Of course, the man's figures may be open to criticism. But he at least presents a new angle from which to view the situation.

READY FOR BARGE LINES.
Kansas City is preparing to spend half a million dollars on a municipal dock and terminal facilities, in preparation for the establishment of a government barge line on the Missouri river.
This venture doubtless will prove a good one, not only for Kansas City and neighboring cities, but even for the railroads—although some railroad men have been wondering if the barge line will not take away some of their business.
The other government barge lines have helped the railroads. They have done this not only by acting as "feeders" for rail centers, but by promoting general prosperity and enhancing the movement of goods. The railroads need not fear this latest development.

A Pittsburgh couple gave a $100,000 dinner to their friends in Paris. That ought to speed along payment of those war debts.

With milk the pail was running over. The Tynmites began to roar. "Huray! Our good friend Clowny sure knows how to milk a cow. A farmer man he should have been." And this, of course, made Clowny grin. Said he "Just look me over, 'cause I am a farmer now."
"I started in and didn't stop until the milk reached to the top. You'll notice that the bossy cow was quiet as could be. She didn't try to kick my pail, or even swing her funny tail. She knew that I'd be kind to her, so stood real still, you see."
The farmer then said, "Well, my lad, your milking really wasn't bad, but if you want some butter there are other things to do. Right now you'll have a chance to learn to make the butter with my churn. I'll bring the churn right out here and 'twill then be up to you."
Then Copy said, "I really think I need a nice refreshing drink. I see a pump, but where's a cup to get the water in?" A little buttercup said, "Gee, why don't you make good use of me. Just fill me up with water." This remark made Copy grin.
But, to the punnie he quickly ran, and found it was a dandy plan. He filled the little cup up full and shortly quenched his thirst. He drank and drank and then he said, "I feel so funny in the head." Then Clowny said, "You drank too much. I really fear you'll burst."
Just then the farmer brought the churn and Scouty shouted, "It's my turn." They poured the pail of milk in. "Now just work it up and down," the farmer shouted. "Work real quick. You'll find it is an easy trick." And Scouty churned until they had some butter, golden brown.
The Tynmites meet some lonesome violets in the next story.

BY RUTH DEWEY GROVES

Darling Mom:
I think I'd better tell you what happened yesterday because you may hear it from someone else. It certainly sounds shocking. I'm not certain that Norman's aunt knows about it, but if she does you're bound to get it, for she won't lose any time sending the news home.
Norman came in this morning, with a bandage over one eye. I asked him if his aunt knew how he got dimmed. He said he didn't think so, but you can't tell about her. I suppose you know that Norman is here. Probably some dear friend has been in to see you by this time and let you know. And incidentally hint that he might have come to see me. Well, I think maybe he did. And what a hornet's nest he ran into!
I refer to the activities of that darling Pete. (It's impossible to dislike such a devoted person.) He was holding down the curb again with his car and giving the telephone operator on our exchange the pollywogles trying to get my number when Norman made his entry yesterday afternoon.
I saw a chance to get out of the house. I hadn't been able to stir outside because I just knew Pete was at the point where he'd make a scene any old place. And was I wrong? Not me, and how.
So I asked Norman if he didn't want to go out for a walk. He said yes if I knew where to walk to find something exciting. He was all run down, rusty and bored to a wisp, he said. I thought I knew where to run into a little activity. Again, did I know wrong? Not me.
He didn't have to go far, either. When we stepped out onto the sidewalk I took his arm and started rather briskly away from there. Suddenly a handsome personage with flashing orbs appeared in our path and bowed low. "Ah, senora," he said. "It is so good of you to remember our engagement."
Well, that handed Norman a lot to think about. But I didn't let go his arm, so he got the drift of things right away. "Sorry," he said. "I think you've made a mistake."
"The senora probably has made a mistake," Pete said politely. "She is going for a drive with me."
Gosh, Mom, I thought I'd have time to finish this but I haven't. See you next mail. Norman's waiting.
Sweetest love,
MARYE.

WAITING
By L. L. McCoy, M. D., Seattle, Wash.

President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Memorial, which has been organized and endowed by prominent doctors and laymen throughout the country to perpetuate the work of the late Major-General in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 400 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.)
If every individual would eliminate the one characteristic—waiting—from his life so far as his health is concerned, the human family would take a great step forward in blotting out one of its worst enemies—disease. To wait for further developments, to hesitate about seeing a physician, to put off obtaining relief immediately—this very detrimental attribute of most human beings is a factor that requires educational forces to counteract. It is a problem that requires the earnest endeavor of every one to solve. To wait when symptoms and signs of disease appear spells spread of disease, increased suffering, invalidism, and death.
What a vast amount of suffering, time, money and sorrow could be saved if, at the first indication of disease, each and every one of us should hie himself to the family physician for advice, and then follow it explicitly. Too often the tendency is to wait, the excuse being lack of time or money or courage. In most things we are determined and hasty but when we are not hitting on all six, so to speak, we make up every excuse possible to avoid consulting our physician. If our car shows the first sign of disorder we seek a service station immediately. We are much more prone to summon help quickly for a sick cow or dog than for ourselves. "Wait a while, I'll be all right," is a common expression. Only when we begin to realize the value of attacking disease in its incipency and understand what periodic health examinations mean relative to the general well-being of all, can we appreciate the importance of early diagnosis and treatment. Waiting for a disease to get well established is then becoming impatient when relief of cure requires time seems to be the attitude of most of us. Instead of wait and then hasten, we should hasten and then wait. In other words, see your physician early and then give him time to help you. A great mistake often made is that of consulting one physician after another in rapid succession without giving any of them time to observe carefully, diagnose and treat. The best procedure is to consult, confide and continue with a reputable physician.
A slight cough, a mild headache, a darting pain, a loss of weight, and many other symptoms that cause us little concern are often the warning signals of a serious condition that is just beginning. These symptoms should not be ignored as they are the prods that tell us some part of our system is out of order. And we should use good common sense in caring for our own bodies. We are constantly putting our various bodily systems to tests that we would never think of doing with a horse, a cow, or a car. If we misuse any of our domestic animals the way we do ourselves, the humane societies would quickly take us to task. What the human family needs is a humane society to watch and care for it, and it seems that such is to be found in a very meagre way to be sure, in the efforts of the Gorgas Memorial in promoting periodic health examinations.

If periodic health examinations become an established factor in our social order, and I believe there is no question but that they will eventually, the science of medicine will have gone a long way toward establishing a human healthUtopia. It will be one of the greatest advances in civilization when man learns the value of periodic health examinations and that physical fitness and mental well-being spell efficiency, health, happiness, wealth and longevity. No human mind can now estimate the financial loss, suffering, energy waste, and retardation of mental ability as a result of disease. It is a much greater enemy to mankind than war, the elements, or famine, and it can be largely controlled and eliminated by simply heeding the danger signals which always appear. We must learn to observe these signals and then refuse to wait and take a chance with death's most ardent helper—disease.
Disease is our worst enemy. Our health is our wealth.
Nothing is so wasteful as ill health. Observe the danger signals of dysfunction.
Take a thorough inventory of your mind and body.
Well-being insures happiness and longevity.
A periodic health examination is good sense.
Illness makes for inefficiency and indifference.
Tomorrow may be too late.

THE HIGHWAY LIMITED

This is the first of a series of articles by Catherine Woolley describing the luxuries of modern stage transportation over some of the country's most fascinating highways.

BY CATHERINE WOOLLEY
Written Especially for NEA Service and The Telegraph.

All conventions of highway travel sink into the commonplace beside the "limited parlor-buffet" coaches that operate throughout the west and on the Pacific coast, with their hot meals served in deep trays to passengers in lazy individual arm-chairs.

Kitchenet, lavatory, radio, drinking fountain, folding card tables, smoking room, adjustable reclining chairs and individual wall lamps and heating switches. A steward in uniform. An upper deck, not only for passengers but for the driver—no longer a driver, however, but a pilot driving from the roof level. Two drivers go out on all long-distance runs.

Dramatic, even to our supercharged era. The circle has swung through steam and electric travel back to the Highway Limited, though the galloping horses are gone and a motor, panting its power, takes their place.

Fourteen hours is the time of the extra-fare stages between San Francisco and Los Angeles, 457 miles by the Pacific Highway—the Coast Route. San Diego is four and a half hours further south.

On Old King's Highway. The Pacific Highway is a mountain road over much of its course, but a superb highway it is, passing through Santa Barbara, Santa Maria, San Luis Obispo, Paso Robles and San Jose to San Francisco. This was the King's Highway of the early Spanish settlers who established missions along it.

These runs between San Francisco and San Diego, however, are just a piece out of 1600 miles of intensive stage transportation on the Pacific coast. From Mexico to Canada, and beyond, the Pacific Highway affords a spirited spectacle of modern stage-coaching.

Not only by day, but by night, the huge road cars of several companies—including the railroads themselves—climb the mountain ranges that corrugate the coast, their powerful searchlights penetrating the forests at the constant succession of turns, and their headlights flashing through the darkness of valley and wilderness along this highway.

The traveler can leave Seattle on a motor stage near midnight, and connect after breakfast in Portland for the south over the Shasta stage route. A through coach will land him in San Francisco, 726 miles from Portland, early the next afternoon, and in Los Angeles the second morning out of Portland. A stage journey of 1200 miles in 48 hours.

Inland Route, Too. He can still go southward, in an ultra-luxurious stage which for half the trip of 135 miles follows the shore of the Pacific. Or he may reach San Diego by an inner route, skirting the mountains and Lake Elsinore.

The traveler from San Francisco may proceed southward over an interior route through the San Joaquin valley. It touches Sacramento, Stockton, Modesto, Merced, Fresno and Bakersfield, and approaches Los Angeles over the scenic Ridge Route.

This road is as good as the other. Here too the stage lines have abolished the night stop, though a passenger may stay over if he chooses.

Those who go through the San Joaquin valley by day see vast wheat fields, and great acres that grow raisins, figs, prunes, apricots, grapes, walnuts, olives, berries and cotton.

This famous valley is 200 miles, north and south, and along its eastern course lie the high Sierras, the Yosemite and big trees.

The Redwood Highway. Another variation of the north-and-south stage journey on the Pacific slope is the Redwood Highway. For 400 miles along the ocean it winds through primeval forests and mountain fastnesses and into fishing and hunting grounds. Then the traveler can cut back by stage to the mighty Pacific Highway and go on to Portland, Seattle or Vancouver, B. C.

It is singular that this far northern end of the Pacific coast should be so intensively organized for motor transportation. One line operates eight through schedules each way daily between Seattle and Portland, and of these several runs are "limited," using stages equipped with lavatories, reclining chairs and observation facilities.

North of Seattle, for 157 miles to Vancouver, there are numerous daily schedules and "limited" stages of luxurious types.

No Pullman berths as yet lend their comfort to the stage traveler, but "sleeping chairs" are coming into use as fast as new stages supplant the old on night runs, and the different lines vie with each other to provide the softest reclining chairs with the most comfortable headpieces.

Of course the full luxury of the extra-fare stage is not found in the regular coaches. Passengers on the long runs still eat three times a day at hotels or restaurants, and many of them patronize wayside lunch counters in the middle of the night.

Appendicitis

By H. E. Randall, M. D., Flint, Mich.
Member Gorgas Memorial

(The following is one of a series of articles prepared under the direction of the Gorgas Memorial as part of its Better Health and Longer Life program. President Coolidge is the honorary president of the Memorial, which has been organized and endowed by prominent doctors and laymen throughout the country to perpetuate the work of the late Major-General Gorgas in preventing unnecessary illness. Headquarters of the Gorgas Memorial are at 400 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago.)

Approximately the same number die of appendicitis each year as are killed in automobile accidents. We try to teach our children in the schools to be more careful and cautious, to prevent auto accidents, and thousands of deaths from appendicitis can be prevented by yearly operations. A late operation for peritonitis. The early operation removes all the inflamed part, which is then limited to the appendix.

What makes appendicitis so dangerous a disease is that not always are the symptoms in accord with the severity of the disease. A typical attack of appendicitis starts with an attack of pain in the pit of the stomach, which in a few hours shifts to pain or soreness in the lower right side with a hardness or rigidity of the muscles. There is now slight fever and the pulse rate is increased in the number of beats per minute. The patient lies with the legs drawn up or often curled up on the right side. The right side is painful on pressure and the patient instinctively protects himself.

But unfortunately all cases are not so typical in their course. There may be no fever, the pulse may be normal in rate, the pain may be but slight, there may be no hardness of muscles present, and the patient may not appear very sick. These are the cases that may go for two or three days before appendicitis is even suspected. Often the patient is supposed to have eaten too much popcorn or peanuts at the picnic.

A good rule to follow is that a sudden pain in the abdomen, if it settles or starts in the lower right side may be an attack of appendicitis, and if appendicitis is suspected, no cathartic or physic of any kind should be given. Most cases of ruptured appendix are from persons who have taken a cathartic, as has been strongly pointed out by a great English surgeon, Sir Berkeley Moubray. Again it should be remembered that relief from pain is not always a good symptom. A ruptured appendix always brings relief for a short time. Soreness in the right side is the danger signal to call your physician for a diagnosis. It hardly seems possible that a little useless organ the size of an angleworm could be such a dangerous thing when inflamed, but the experience of thousands of patients and the experience of thousands of doctors all agree that it is not the size of things that determines their power for harm.

There is no medical treatment for appendicitis because no one can tell how severe an attack may be or how long it may last, and much valuable time is lost in making experiments with drugs and applications. Early removal means cure and easy convalescence with less loss of time.

ROCHELLE NEWS

Rochelle—Physicians of DeKalb who are members of the staff of the DeKalb Public Hospital convinced themselves as well as several other people present that the Houston children of Rochelle, who were supposed to have been cured of deafness by attending a gospel tabernacle in Chicago, are as deaf now as any time in the past. A report was carried in many papers the early part of last month that Mary Houston, 15, Russell Houston 16, Sam Houston 21 and Elvira Houston 23, had been practically cured of deafness at a school for the deaf at Rochelle, and by attending services held at the Paul Rader gospel tabernacle in Chicago.

The story when first printed, caused some controversy among the physicians of the county, and also the staff at the DeKalb Public Hospital. At the meeting of the staff held Thursday at the institution there, the physicians and specialists in attendance examined the Houstons, and report them just as deaf as they were before attending the tabernacle meetings.

It is the belief of the DeKalb hospital staff officials that Miss Gertrude Virgin, the teacher at the school here, was devoting her time to teaching the pupils to become efficient lip readers. This was demonstrated when those in charge of the examination compelled each individual to stand face toward the wall. Many sounds were made, and much conversation carried on, but the one supposed to be cured of deafness did not know anything that had been done.

Dr. Thomas McEachern, of Rochelle, who has been the Houston family physician for years, accompanied the members of the family to DeKalb Public Hospital for the examination made.

A test was made here about a week ago for the benefit of some of Rochelle's citizens and members of the school board interested in the school for the deaf. The test was not satisfactory to all present. When the radio was turned on, or the victrola started the students at the school would quickly cover their ears, as if those organs were very sensitive, and the noise was painful.

HEALTH DIET ADVICE

By Dr. Frank McCoy
Author "The Fast Way to Health"

Dr. McCoy, Los Angeles specialist, will gladly answer personal questions on health and diet, addressed to him, care of The Telegraph. Enclose stamped, addressed, large envelope for reply.

ELECTRICAL TREATMENT METHODS

The physician of today who does not use electrotherapy is guilty of gross negligence. There is no method of treating which can be applied to the ailing body that can be used with more scientific accuracy.

You all know how much I preach the philosophy of self-cure and believe the patient should learn to cure himself and not depend upon others for help except to learn from intelligent physicians how to change his bad habits of living to good ones. Yet, there are times when one is unable to get good advice regarding diet, exercise, etc., and feels the necessity of relying upon some treatment to assist in bringing about a satisfactory change for the better. A short outline of the treatment of the different ailments by electrotherapy may be of some help in encouraging you to consult a modern physician who has the proper electrical equipment to give such treatments.

It is first essential that you understand how this force can bring about a change in the body. The different forms of electricity can be used to produce either a mechanical or a chemical action on the bodily structure, and many times these two actions are combined in one treatment.

The sinusoidal current will affect a muscle so as to contract it. By turning the current on and off the muscle contracts and relaxes in much the same manner as if exercise were taken. By the use of suitable appliances this current can be applied to any of the voluntary or involuntary muscles, and thus the muscle is strengthened in a very definite way.

This treatment is especially helpful in developing a better tone to the abdominal muscles and those of the large intestine, which muscles are weaker than normal with the majority of people. This current can even be used strongly enough to make the bowels move involuntarily.

You can readily see to what number of uses this contracting electrical force may be applied with benefit which cannot be obtained through a gallon of medicine. Protruded organs of the abdomen can be raised to their normal position with the resultant good effects which can be maintained thereafter by substituting systematic physical culture exercises for the electrical treatment.

The High-Frequency current acts both mechanically by increasing the circulation and chemically by assisting metabolism, and is used advantageously in all heart trouble, hardening of the arteries, and in nutritional disorders.

The Galvanic current has also a mechanical and chemical effect, but the chemical change from its use is so definite that this form of electricity stands alone in this respect. Two electrodes must be used on the body in different places and the nature of the current is such that one of the applicators will produce an acid condition of the adjoining tissue, while the other will have the opposite, or alkaline reaction upon the tissue surrounding it. One will have a softening effect and the other a hardening action. You can readily see how this current would do a great damage in the hands of an incompetent physician.

I have barely touched upon the uses for electricity in the treatment of bodily ills, but I trust that if you are not well you will not overlook this science of electrotherapy to help while you are learning how to live so as to stay well.

DIET AND DRAINAGE

The British medical fraternity and, in fact, surgeons all over the world, have been subjected to a series of shocks during the past few years because of the statements given to the press by Sir Arbuthnot Lane, the famous English surgeon. Doctor Lane is known as one of the world's foremost surgeons, having been physician to the King of England and the royal family for many years.

In his work as a surgeon he originated a number of operations for which other surgeons have honored him by naming such surgical procedure after him. For example, the "Lane's Link Operation" is a well known operation for removing a condition known as "Lane's Kink." This is a peculiar kind of kink which Dr. Lane attempted to cure through removing a section of the intestine. Doctor Lane must be credited also with starting the recommendation of the use of Russian mineral oil to overcome constipation. It is less than twenty years since Doctor Lane suggested the use of mineral oils, and today these oils for lubricating the intestines are refined and sold by the hundreds of millions of gallons yearly.

After nearly a half century of surgical practice, Doctor Lane has summed up his conclusions in an apt phrase when he says that "health is simply a matter of diet and drainage." This is the same viewpoint held by hundreds of health writers throughout the world. Some name auto-intoxication as the cause of all disease, others use the words "toxemia," "autotoxemia," "self poisoning," "intestinal poisoning," and similar words and phrases which mean practically the same thing.

The homely truths which I give you daily in this column may practically be all grouped under the titles of "assimilation" and "elimination." If you have been benefited through following my advice, it is because you have learned better rules about the assimilation of foods and the elimination of waste products.

The hundreds of thousands of letters of appreciation which I receive prove to me that practically every disease can be prevented and even cured by the one who learns how to properly balance assimilation and elimination. This is getting back to certain fundamental truths as every physician must realize, even though there seem to be so many practitioners of the healing arts who are looking for obscure causes of diseases and missing the common ones.

Readers are always more interested in the cure of diseases than they are in preventing it, and seldom become interested in health until they have lost it.

Perhaps my readers would be interested in a series of articles explaining how disease already may be cured through increasing the different eliminative processes which the body must use. The principal channels of elimination are through the lungs, the kidneys and intestines.

Tomorrow's article will explain how to increase elimination of toxins through the lungs.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Question: O. L. B. writes: "My mother had her gall bladder removed two years ago. Now she has a rash all over her body, and her doctor tells her it is because she has no gall bladder. What can she do? Would an orange juice fast do her any good? I have tried the orange juice fast myself for eight days and feel like a different person."

Answer: There is probably no connection between the removal of your mother's gall bladder and the rash she is now bothered with. The gall bladder and the rash she is now she now has. The gall bladder, if infected or diseased, may become a regular cesspool of poison. After such a gall bladder is removed, patient should feel better for a year or two, but if the same habits continue which produced the gall bladder trouble in

IS IT OVER YOUR HEAD?

Today's puzzle is more like water polo than golf, but just the same it requires some accurate strokes. WADE out just seven strokes and you can SWIM. That's according to par. You may be able to beat one solution on page 11.

THE RULES

1—The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW to HEN, in three strokes, COW, HOW, HEW, HEN.

2—You can change only one letter at a time.

3—You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each pump. Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4—The order of letters cannot be changed. One solution is printed on page 11.

The first place, other symptoms and disorders must inevitably result. The orange juice fast would certainly be a good treatment for her to take to cleanse the liver and remove excess toxins. Tell your mother to be especially careful afterward to use good food combinations.

Question: Norma F. writes: "I wish you would tell me something about cucumbers. I am very fond of them, but even while eating them I have a secret fear that they are a kind of poison or something."

Answer: Cucumbers are not only harmless but a really valuable salad vegetable when used in proper combination with other foods. The bad reputation of this vegetable is due to the fact that whenever it is eaten with an improperly balanced meal and there is trouble, the cucumber is immediately blamed, when the vinegar and onions with which it was prepared are the offenders. Use cucumbers quartered or sliced, without adding salt or oil and you will quickly decide there is nothing "poison" about the cucumber.

Question: Marie P. writes: "I have heard a great deal about your work and success. Would it be possible for you to give me a diet to cure an over-active thyroid? I am not able to work at present on account."

Question: Mother writes: "Do you advise the use of extract of malt with cod-liver oil?"

Answer: Extract of malt and cod-liver oil do not contain any material not supplied by an ordinary diet of good foods.

Question: J. O. S. asks: "Will you please tell me the best way to cleanse and purify the system?"

Answer: The best way is to take a fast, followed by a suitable diet. I will be glad to send you complete instructions upon receipt of a large, self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ask for the article called "A Cleansing Diet."

SKELETONS OF 190 ANCIENT INDIANS IN SINGLE MOUND

Largest Group Burial in the World to be Exhibited Publicly

Lewistown, Ill.—(AP)—Attesting the existence of an ancient Indian race, the age of which has not been definitely established, more than 190 skeletons have been found in a prehistoric mound on the Dickson farm near here during the winter, said to be the largest group burial in the world.

Dr. Don Dickson has erected a large tile building over the scene of the excavations and visitors are to be taken on regularly conducted tours in all kinds of weather. Many thousands of persons visited the mound last summer. The record attendance was on a Sunday in August when 2,500 filed past the excavation.

The skeletons have been left in the clay as originally found, the Dicksons removing the earth carefully and painstakingly. The burials are in regular formation, with about six inches of red clay between each layer of remains. The entire mound is crescent shaped, facing the east and overlooking the Illinois river. Originally it was 600 feet long and 50 feet wide, but three quarters of a century of farming and the excavation for a house, have cut it down.

Mystery surrounds the origin of the skeletons. They vary in many respects from the Indians who inhabited this section of the Illinois valley. Their skulls are somewhat different, and their pottery and implements show a higher development. Dr. Don Dickson, who gave up his practice in Lewistown to excavate the mound, thinks it may be of an unknown race thousands of years old. Smithsonian Institute scientists who have visited the site have reserved their opinion as to the age of the bones and their origin, pending further excavation.

Dr. J. L. Conger, historian and anthropologist at Knox college, Galesburg, believes the skeletons are those of nomad Indians wiped out by a plague perhaps three or four hundred years ago. In many cases the skeletons are of male and female, with children between them, and Dr. Conger thinks this indicates death on a large scale, probably from an epidemic.

"Until more excavating of burial mounds is done in Illinois it will be impossible to determine the age or origin of the Dickson skeletons," Dr. Conger said. "The Dicksons have made a fine beginning in perhaps unearthing a new chapter of Illinois history but later developments only will prove the scientific value of their finds. I think the burials are of Indians and were made not more than 300 or 400 years ago. The difference in pottery and implements from the Indians who inhabited this section at the time the whites entered may be explained by a study of Indian culture and the supposition that the band was a wandering group which used this valley for camp sites. They can doubtless be definitely traced when more excavating is done elsewhere.

Indian burial spots are common for almost 100 miles along the Illinois river from Liverpool to near Quincy, according to Dr. Conger. He says some of the finest are near Astoria, but there has been little scientific excavating done to determine the races or culture. Dr. Conger does not think there is any reason to suppose that any of the mounds contain skeletons of a race greatly superior to the Indians or pre-dating them.

OUR TREES

ELM A VALUABLE WOOD

According to Norse mythology, Odin, the god of heaven, made the first woman from a branch of the elm tree.

With branches spreading sometimes 150 feet the elm makes a particularly good shade tree. The American or common elm has the widest range, excels all others in height and beauty. Slippery elm, beloved by country children for its fragrant bark which they chew, and the rock elm are also important species.

Elm is a valuable wood because of its strength, fine bending qualities and ability to stand rough usage. The principal use of elm in the past has been in the manufacture of slack cooperage and baskets. It is also extensively used in the vehicle industry, being well fitted for the frames of bides and for top bows of both automobiles and wagons.

Although elm is becoming scarcer, a fairly constant, although probably diminishing supply, is assured for a long time because of the wide range of the different species and the fact that they form an appreciable percentage of the mixed hardwood stands in the eastern United States. The elms as a whole grow rather rapidly.

William Penn made his famous treaty with the Indians beneath the shade of a beautiful elm in Philadelphia. Washington took command of the American army at Cambridge, Mass., under an elm. The Burgoyne Elm at Albany, N. Y., was planted the day Burgoyne was brought to Albany a prisoner.

SEVEN ILLINOIS STUDENTS BUILD VISION MACHINE

Two Months Labor on a Television Outfit is Successful

Urbana, Ill.—(AP)—Working with home-made apparatus and plans of their own conception, seven University of Illinois students, two of whom are freshmen, have built a successful television machine.

For more than two months, the students labored over the machine, and on its first trial, eight pictures were successfully reproduced.

W. N. Parker of Chicago, a senior in the college of engineering, developed the plans for the machine after he had spent a year of study in laboratories. Six men in the college, interested in advanced electrical engineering, volunteered to help him with the construction of the machine, built entirely with apparatus of their own design. The students were: R. E. Wagner, Urbana, and W. P. Burglund, Chicago, freshmen; Robert Goughler, Chicago, W. L. Wiegrefe, Litchfield, Ill., and A. F. Stuttle, Champaign, juniors and J. H. Slocum, Rock Island, a senior.

Because of the comparatively small amount of knowledge that scientists have of television, the achievement of the students was recognized by electrical experts at the university as a particularly meritorious piece of work.

Despite the success of the machine, Parker, the designer, believes that television has a long and difficult path to travel before it becomes practical for the radio, or home.

"For one thing," Parker said, "it will be necessary to do away with some of the delicate instruments of the machine. They are too difficult to time and too delicate in operation. There are several ways that scientists believe would solve the problems confronting the successful operation of television on a broad scale, but those ways are yet to be developed as far as television is concerned. For instance, some believe in the cathode ray tube, but how to apply it is still a mystery."

The machine employs a powerful arc light, scanning disks, photo-electric cells, extensive amplification and neon glow lamps in transmitting the pictures of images.

Apowful arc light, before which speeds a circular aluminum disk, the outer surface of which is perforated with pinholes in symmetrical alignment, starts the "electrical photographing" of the image. The beam of light, playing through the pinholes of the disk, is cast through a small aperture of a darkened enclosure, in which is the object to be photographed. The light, running through the pinholes of the disk, produces a fine line of light, which runs across the face of the image in a series of horizontal lines. Each line of light photographs a portion of the image, and is in turn reflects dinto the faces of four giant photo-electric cells, which are placed within the enclosure. The cells are the largest that have been built, and they were developed by L. P. Garner, a graduate student of the university.

The light impulses, as the reflections are known, are changed to feeble electrical impulses through the action of the cells, and carried to a six-stage vacuum tube amplifier, which magnifies the electrical impulses by thousands of times.

From the amplifier, the impulse is thrown into a "neon glow lamp", and before which a scanning disk, identical to the first one, is whirling. The two disks rotate in perfect motion, flawless timing making it possible for identical pinholes of the two disks to reach a certain point at the same instant, despite terrific speed. This timing, combined with the action of the lamp, results in a series of pinhole flashes through the receiving disk, which reproduce the image originally photographed.

Features of Social Affairs in the Capital

Washington, May 7.—(AP)—Mrs. Coolidge made several appearances in public last week, attending the circus matinee Tuesday and the Congressional Club breakfast Thursday.

She was an attractive figure on both occasions, wearing an all white costume to the circus; while at the breakfast she appeared in a modish dress, cut coat fashion, of heavy taupe crepe and turning away to show a little rose pink and mauve in the blouse.

Her hat was of taupe color horsehair braid, with wide transparent, brim faced with delicate mauve and black shades and two large pink roses shading into mauve on the right side of the crown.

The circus was a second thought with the President, who surprised his followers by suddenly announcing his determination to accompany Mrs. Coolidge.

The party was a gay one. It was made up of the President's new aide, Colonel Osmin Latrobe, Mrs. Latrobe, Captain and Mrs. Wilson Brown, Dr. and Mrs. Joe T. Boone, little Suzanne Boone, who snuggled close to Mrs. Coolidge all afternoon, and Mrs. Frank W. Stearns.

The grand climax of the Congressional Club's social season is the breakfast in honor of the first lady of the land, and this season it was given at the attractive setting of the Pan-American Union building. The Marine Band orchestra occupied the Aztec patio with its towering palms and parrots, and the breakfast was served in the Grand Hall of the Americas, where there were flowers in abundance and women in the gay toilets now so prevalent.

The Congressional Club is composed wholly of the wives, sisters, mothers and daughters of Senators and Representatives.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover and Mrs. James J. Davis, wives, respectively, of the Secretary of Commerce and the Secretary of Labor, were at the long guest table.

Mrs. John B. Henderson, honorary Vice President and fairy godmother of the club since she gave the site on which the club building stands, was at the hostess table. As cards were drawn for the seating, Democrats and Republicans sat side by side and discussed the two big political conventions in friendly fashion.

A semi-cabinet wedding was an interesting feature on today's calendar. Miss Rita Hulm, niece of Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Jardine, was to be married to Harold Hughes, of Zanesville, Ohio, at the home of Frank K. Nebeker, brother of Mrs. Jardine and uncle of the bride. Only a small group of relatives and close friends were to attend.

Quite the sensation of the week socially was the visit of the Bremen crew who were lionized as few visitors ever before have been in the Capital.

A White House luncheon, dinner parties at the embassies and legations and a brilliant reception in the ball room of the Mayflower Hotel were given in their honor. The hosts, who so amiably gratified the curiosity of the socially-inclined public, were the three Secretaries of Aviation, F. Trabee Davidson of the War Department, Edward P. Warner of the Navy, and William P. MacCracken, Jr., of the Department of Commerce.

Major James Fitzmaurice, Capt. Hermann Koehl and Baron Gunther Von Huenefeld alternated in line with the Assistant Secretaries, and gave a nice view of old world courtliness as they bowed low and kissed the hands of the ladies as they were introduced.

At least they kissed the hands of the first few hundred, the peck of the lips growing fainter and fainter until the good American interceded and even stopped the handshaking with the men, leaving the intrepid flyers to greet the visitors with a low bow.

Hand kissing in Washington drawing rooms is quite a familiar sight, as it is practiced by all diplomats, young and old, but fifty or a hundred women in a drawing room is one thing and hundreds of women of all ages is another and affords a humorous side to the custom.

tion, the movement was taken as a protective measure.

Mrs. H. J. Mitchell, prominent Joliet clubwoman, headed the conservation measure committee as chairman. Her "aides" were Mrs. Charles A. Russell, president of the Joliet Woman's club; Miss Edna Keith, city school supervisor; Martin F. Gleason, supervisor of art in the city schools; August Maue, county superintendent of schools; Mrs. Richard J. Barr, president of the 11th district Federation of Women's clubs, and Mrs. Albert Grinton, county president.

Members of the Joliet park board, banded with the county schools, in tree planting activities.

The trees, which were donated by the women's club federation and delivered to the schools through the co-operation of the park board, were distributed among the children who planted them on the grounds of their homes. Attached to each shoot were full planting instructions.

Demonstrations on tree planting and their care, and lessons in "Tree Planting" were given by instructors in every class room in the public and county school systems preliminary to the Arbor Day activities.

The federation did not furnish the trees for the rural schools, as wild crab apple trees are to be found within a mile or two of most of the county schools, and they were transplanted to the school grounds by the pupils, aided by their teachers.

OLD FASHIONED NAMES ON NEW FABRIC LIST
Paris.—(AP)—Some of the newest fabrics are the materials of other days.

Challis, marquisette and voile are important dress materials for summer. Challis the same old light wool washable print our mothers used to make into "house dresses," is suitable for the informal day dresses made with slight draping or tiered skirts.

Wool marquisette is used for many of the newest dresses with pleated tiers, and wool voile is used for dresses and coats. One dressmaker

WILL WIDEN AND DEEPEN CHANNEL OF GREEN RIVER

Dredges Arrive for Work Between Harmon, Deer Grove

Deepening and widening the channel of Green river from Deer Grove east to the vicinity of Harmon will be commenced in a short time by G. A. McWilliams, who has been awarded the contract for this extensive job which will require eighteen months work.

Two large dredging machines, one to be located on either side of the river, will be used on the job. The dredge equipment, which is to be used on the south side of the river, was shipped to Walnut several weeks ago and it has been unloaded, erected and moved to the south bank of the river near Harmon where the work is to be started.

The second dredging machine which will be located on the north side of the river is now being unloaded at Harmon, having been shipped there from Louisiana, where Mr. McWilliams has just completed a dredging contract. Enroute from Louisiana the flat cars, on which the machine was loaded, caved in under the heavy load, part of the outfit falling off. Considerable damage was caused by the accident, and the repairs, where were done in the railway yards, caused a delay in the arrival of the machine.

The machine is so heavy that it cannot pass over the bridges and culverts between the Harmon railroad yards and the site on the river. It will be necessary to drive the monster machine to one side of the bridges.

The dredge machines for the Green river job are considerable different from the old floating dredges that were formerly used in this vicinity some years ago. Three flat cars were required for the shipment of each of these machines.

These new type dredges operate on land and travel on a large caterpillar truck by their own power, furnished by 120 horse power oil engines, which also operate the two yard dippers that swing at the end of 70 feet booms.

In the 14 days, when the floating machines were used, it took months to tear down and rebuild them in transferring them from one job to another.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

"ADAM AND FAILEN MAN" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, Sunday, May 6.

The Golden Text was from I Corinthians 15:22, "As in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their mind. That ye put on the new man, which after God is created in righteousness and true holiness" (Eph. 4:17, 24).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Let us accept Science, relinquish all theories based on sense-testimony, give up imperfect models and illusory ideas; and so let us have one God, one Mind, and that one perfect, producing His own models of excellence" (p. 249).

TWO AMBULANCES ROAM CHICAGO TO AID DUMB ANIMALS

Great Humane Work is Carried on There by Society

Chicago, Ill.—(AP)—Two white ambulances cruise about Chicago daily, not in quest of incapacitated human beings, but searching for four-footed friends of man, disabled and left deserted in the streets of the city.

For those animals a home of convalescence is provided, such as most of them have never known. The trips of the ambulances are slowly decreasing, however, for "people are gradually learning to be kinder to animals," said Dr. H. J. Streibert, superintendent of the Chicago Anti-Cruelty Society, which finances the ambulances, the home, and other merciful missions in Chicago.

"We hope people will continue to increase in this thoughtfulness," the superintendent said, "for many of these poor, shrinking, limping dogs and cats have never heard the kind tone of a human voice, nor known the soft strokings of a human hand."

To the society's home for animals, injured, half-starved, or homeless dogs and cats are brought each day. Their injuries are dressed and the animals returned to good health, if a recovery is possible. Thin bodies are nourished and fattened and homeless dogs are given "room and board" until homes can be found for them.

"We cannot always prevent tragedy," Dr. Streibert said, "but we can ease the pain of it. The society is trying to stimulate more of a human compassion for animals, and our figures show that response to the efforts of the society have increased as knowledge of the society itself has become more wide-spread.

Only Free Shelter.

"The society is the only one maintaining a free humane rescue shelter in Chicago, an object chief object is to rescue and prevent suffering among these helpless little creatures. The majority of dogs sent in daily are unwanted, without any marks of identification, and having no license tags. We try to restore lost dogs to their owners, or, if not wanted, to find suitable homes for them."

What animal owners should do toward creating kindness and happiness for their pets, was outlined by the society in several statements.

"Give your dog or cat his greatest rewards, companionship and freedom. Don't chain him up in your back yard to an eternal imprisonment. Let him share your little trips and pleasures and he will be only too happy to share your hardships."

"If you move, take your dog with you, or ship him to your future home. If you cannot do this, place him in a good home, but be sure that his future owners take him because of a love of dogs, and not because of a desire to have a watchdog."

"Treat young puppies with a respect for their tender bodies and do not subject them to the nervous strain that will develop from too much noise, overhandling and petting, or mauling. Remember that fear and anguish are just as severe as pain, scaring or tormenting a creature is cruel."

AVOID UGLY PIMPLES

A pimply face will not embarrass you much longer if you get a package of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets. The skin should begin to clear after you have taken the tablets a few nights.

Cleanse the blood, bowels and liver with Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the successful substitute for calomel; there's no sickness or pain after taking them.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do that which calomel does, and just as effectively, but their action is gentle and safe instead of severe and irritating.

No one who takes Olive Tablets is ever cursed with a "dark brown taste," a bad breath, a dull, listless, "no good" feeling, constipation, torpid liver, bad disposition or pimply face.

Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil; know them by their olive color.

Dr. Edwards spent years among patients afflicted with liver and bowel complaints and Olive Tablets are the immensely effective result. Taken nightly for a week. See how much better you feel and look. 15c, 30c, 60c.

UNIVERSAL In-A-Drawer Broiler Gas Ranges in harmonious color combinations that bring a new note of beauty to kitchen

EDNA M. FERGUSON

Will Demonstrate This Range in Her Cooking Baking and Broiling

The Universal In-A-Drawer Broiler coupled with the Automatic Oven Heat Control form the greatest combination of practical and scientific cooking aids ever embodied in one range.

The In-A-Drawer Broiler introduces a new era of gas range service and conveniences—presenting for the first time since the inception of the gas range a safe, practical and usable broiler that overcomes every objectionable feature of the ordinary type of broiler.

Operating on roller bearings, the entire broiling compartment rolls out the full length of the broiler pan at the touch of a finger, eliminating stooping and making the broiler as easily accessible as the cooking top.

It enables you to turn food without removing it from the broiler or reaching into a hot broiling compartment.

It is sanitary—and most important you can use the In-A-Drawer Broiler without fear of burning yourself.

The Oven Heat Control gives you accurate, automatic control of your oven temperatures. It eliminates guesswork and makes every oven cooking venture an assured success.

The In-A-Drawer broiler offers eight distinct advantages over any other type of broiler—

1. Ease of Operation.
2. Easy Accessibility.
3. Easy to Clean.
4. Saves Time.
5. Saves Labor.
6. Eliminates Stooping.
7. Greater Safety.
8. Greater Usefulness.

Hunters Wary of Wild Game Disease

Bloomington, Ill., May 7—(AP)—An "innocent organism" with a long name—bacillus tularensis—discovered in 1912 in the bulrush country of California, now threatens to seriously interfere with the hunting of small game, Thomas G. Hull, pathologist of the state department of public health, told members of the Illinois Academy of Science.

Bacillus Tularensis is the parent, so to speak, of tularemia, a disease contracted especially from infected rabbits, which some scientists have held akin to bubonic plague. The disease existed long before the discovery of the organism, and when bacillus tularensis was isolated for the first time, little significance was attached to the event, Dr. Hull said.

The passing years brought increased evidence of the importance of the germ.

"Rabbit hunting," said Dr. Hull, "once so popular a pastime, has received a severe setback because hunters are becoming wary of a disease which is becoming more and more readily contracted."

"A further economic question of significance is that of importation of rabbits for restocking purposes, and the maintenance of quarantine around uninfected areas. While the rabbit is of chief importance in acting as a reservoir of infection, other animals have been found susceptible—such as the ground squirrel, the pine squirrel, pack rat, wood chuck, chipmunk, porcupine, coyote, wood rat, and meadow mouse."

Dr. Hull believes that a further study of the bacillus is imperative because of the apparent close relationship to bubonic plague, and consequent danger of increased virulence to man.

Sterling experienced no difficulty in capturing high honors in the fifth annual Rock River Valley Conference track and field meet held in that city Saturday, winning by a wide margin. With fine weather prevailing, many of the former conference records went down into history and new marks were hung up for future students to shoot at, many of these being exceptionally good for high school meets.

Eric Wilson, of the University of Iowa, Western Conference champion and former Olympic team member in the 220 yard dash division, officiated as referee and starter. During the qualifying rounds in the morning, Wilson's starting pistol failed to discharge six out of nine times when starts were being made, and the events were delayed somewhat until State Highway police procured ammunition from the University of Illinois armory.

Capt. Wyatt Star.
Captain Wyatt of the Sterling team was the outstanding star in the meet, with Walters, his team mate, running a close second. Fine weather and a fast track made conditions ideal for the various events. Outside of the students entered from the eight schools, and instructors who accompanied them, the meet was very poorly attended.

Captain O'Malley of Dixon set a new record in the 50 yard dash, leading the field to the tape in 5.5, clipping one second from the record formerly held by Johnson of Mt. Morris and Dornbush of Morrison. Delbert Blackburn breastst the tape ahead of the field in the 440 yard dash event,

High Wind Bothers Golfers in Tourney
Sandwich, England, May 7—(AP)—The 36-hole qualification play for the British open golf championship got under way today in a stiff breeze from the Channel which made scoring difficult and early cards, including those of American entrants, were well up in the seventies.

George Duncan, veteran Britisher, had a 73 and E. R. Whitcombe, another Britisher, a 75 which compared

Sixty thousand persons, including the famous crew of the Bremen, watched the New York Yankees subdue the Chicago White Sox for the third day in a row, 4 to 2, at the Yankee stadium. It was a tough one for Red Faber, Chicago veteran, and these included homers by Gehrig and Dugan, the former's being his third of the season. Stanley Coveleskie, veteran Pole, got credit for the Yankee victory although he had to call for assistance from Wilcy Moore before the game was over. The Sox got nine hits including a circuit drive by Barrett. Babe Ruth went hitless in two official trips to the plate.

Sam Gray registered his sixth win of the season when the St. Louis Browns turned back the Senators at Washington, 7 to 6, in a thrilling 11-inning game. Gray was constantly in difficulties but always managed to pull through. His single in the eleventh put Schang in a position to score the winning run on O'Rourke's sacrifice. Bucky Harris, pilot of the Senators, handled 12 chances at second base and got two hits, one a triple with the bases loaded.

The New York Giants, National League leaders, suffered their second straight defeat at Cincinnati, 4 to 3, in 10 innings. The Reds fielded sensationally, completing four double plays. Jann McGraw announced that Viv Aldridge, former Pirate right hander, had come to terms.

At St. Louis the Cardinals and Brooklyn Robins divided a double header before 33,000 fans. Dazzy Vance allowed but six hits and fanned a half dozen in the first game but lost the decision to Grover Alexander and the Redbirds, 4 to 3. Roettger's homer in the second inning gave the Cards an early lead and three hits in the eighth settled the issue. In the closing encounter, Babe Herman's four-base drive with a man on base in the eighth enabled the Robins to earn a 5 to 4 decision. Hailey drove in four runs with a homer and a single.

Pat Malone, American Association strike-out artist, threw a fast ball past the Phillies for five innings as the Chicago Cubs eked out a 5 to 4 decision over the invaders in 11 innings. Malone relieved Sheriff Blake in the seventh with the bases loaded, got out of the jam with one run scored against him and then turned back the Phils the rest of the way. He fanned eight men.

The four other major league clubs had open dates.

Easy Laps Pyle's Marathon are Over

Gary, Ind., May 7—(AP)—Gone are the easy laps in the trans-continent-al union derby.

Beginning with today's 64-mile trek from Gary to Mishawaka, Ind., the longest of the race so far, the runners will have to plod 40 or more miles daily instead of the customary 25 to 40 miles. South Bend was to have been today's stop, but Promoter Pyle last night made the change to Mishawaka, which is four miles further along the road to New York and "timid."

Although two Hoosiers, Roy McCutry of Indianapolis and John Stone of Marion, won yesterday's 38.4 mile lap from Chicago to Gary in 3:21:07, Peter Gavuzzi of Southampton, England, boosted his lead in the race. Gavuzzi came in fourth in 3:32:25 to make his total elapsed time for the 2430.7 miles from Los Angeles 394:48:50, giving him a total elapsed time of 400:57:48. John Salo, of Passaic, N. J., finished the lap second, gaining seven minutes and 57 seconds on Gavuzzi. Salo is in third place with an elapsed time of 429:18:13.

Five more runners and a referee, Arthur Duffey of Boston, quit the race at Chicago, bringing the field down to 65 survivors.

Big Ten Baseball Race Gets Hotter

Chicago, May 7—(AP)—The Big Ten baseball championship may be decided this week as the undefeated leader, Michigan, tops a heavy conference program with four contests, two of which will be played against Illinois at Urbana.

While the Wolverines are favorites to win the title, it will be the hardest test of the campaign for them. In addition to meeting the Illini, Michigan had Wisconsin to play at Ann Arbor today and Iowa at Iowa City Friday.

Ten games are on the deck's conference program. In addition to the Michigan-Wisconsin game, Indiana was at Northwestern and Iowa at Minnesota today. The other games, excluding the Michigan contests, are: Tuesday, Chicago at Ohio State; Friday, Purdue at Indiana; Saturday, Wisconsin at Minnesota and Northwestern at Chicago.

Iowa was in second place with three victories and one defeat as the result of last week's triumphs over Wisconsin, Northwestern and Indiana. Illinois dropped two games last week and is in third place with four games won out of six played.

Manager of Cards Handed Suspension

New York, May 7—(AP)—Bill McKee, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has been suspended for three days for directing abusive language at Umpire Charles Pfiman in the dugout after yesterday's double-header between the Cardinals and Brooklyn at St. Louis. President Heydler of the National League announced today.

The suspension of McKee is the first handed out by President Heydler so far this season. No fine was involved in the punishment of the St. Louis manager, who has seldom, if ever before felt the effect of discipline. McKee is one of the least aggressive of major league pilots.

Plan Long Swim

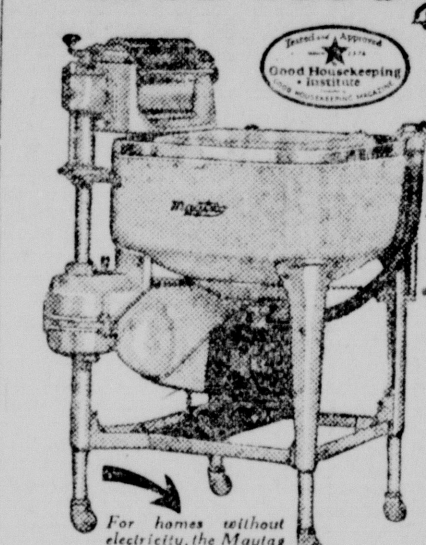

New York, May 7—(AP)—Phyllis and Bernice Zitenfeld, fourteen-year-old twins, plan a 265-mile swim from Boston to New York this summer.

The twins, who swam from Albany to New York last year and broke Mrs. Lottie Schoemmer's record in doing it, plan to start from Boston July 1, and clamber out of the water at the Battery about two weeks later.
